TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Washington, March 5.-The Senate held a short session to-day and but little business of importance was transacted. There was a brief debate on silver, precipitated by the intention expressed by the Vice-President to refer the Bland seinorage bill (which was just received from the House) to the Finance Committee. Stewart of Nevada opposed this disposition of the bill and asked that it be allowed to lie on the table, subject to being called up at any time. This was finally ordered. Stewart masmuch as it was understood before hand at the same time offered a free silver amend. that no action binding upon the Senators ment to the bill.

A crank, giving the name of Abraham Julius Kisler, of Baltimore, appeared at the White House and announced that he had come to take sossession of it and turn it pleased either the free-traders or the home over to the low. . . un attendants handed protectionists. The former are kicking behim over to the police.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 5 .- All the miners in the Ohio sub-district, to the placed on them is too low. It is impossible number of over 7,000 agreed to return to work to-day, pending a settlement of the wage schedule by arbitration. Et Paso, March 5 .- C. H. Dane, president of the Deming and Silver City National Banks, has been found guilty of defrauding the depositors and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary.

LONDON, March 4 .- Mr. Gladstene wrote to-day to Earl Roseberry, congratulating him upon his accession to the Premiership. In his letter Mr. Gladstone promised to aid the new Prime Minister whenever his assistance was asked.

SHREVEPORT, March 3 .- A tremondous explosion of chemicals occurred in the drug store of Ballier & Co., blowing out part of the wall. A fire followed, causing damage to the above named firm and three other concerns to the amount of $125,000.

Kosciusko, Miss. March 3. - A great excitement took place in this city to day the cause being a deadly encounter between W. H. Ratcliffe, editor of the Alliance Vindicator, and S. A. Jackson the newly elected State Representative, in which the latter was killed, also Sam Russell, a bystander, received a stray shot in the mouth and killed him instantly and Will Sanders, another outsider was fatally wounded. The trouble between Ratcliffe and Jackson was that Jackson was accused by Rateliffe, of voting with the Populists.

Borse, Idaho, March 3 .- A gentleman here from Atlanta, reports a thrilling inciden which happened recently to an Atlanta lad named Charles Goetz. He went out hunting in the mountain canyons, while sighting a deer, he was caught by a huge snowslide and carried down the mountain side for half a mile. At the place where the accident happened it is so steep that it is almost impassable. After lying in the snow for eleven hours he was rescued by a party that set out from Atlanta, thinking that some accident had happened to him, and was brought home in a bruised and al-

WASHINGTON, March 2. No surprise was expressed by the silver men in the House when informed of the discouraging remarks of the British Chancellor of Exchaquer on the outlook for the reassembling of the monetary conference

McCreary of Kentucky, a delegate from the United States to the conference said: "The outlook does not indicate that an international money conference will be held this year. There is, however, a growing feeling in Europe in favor of an enlarged use of silver, England has been in favor of gold monometallism for many years, but there are many able men who favor international bimetallism. England has blockaded the way more than any other nation and prevented an international agreement for many years, but I believe there will be, after a while, such a demand for international bimetallism that another conference must be held, but it is probably impossible that it can assemble until the several leading countries of Europe indicate a desire for the conference.'

Newlands of Nevada said he had no expectation that England would move for a reassembling of the conference while the Liberals remained in power. If the Conservatives could gain control he would consider the prospect brighter for an international agreement, since Balfour and other prominent men of that party are favorable to silver. He is confident that under this administration the initiative will not be taken by the United States.

Senator Allison, another delegate, read the dispatch with the comment that he had known all the time that the United States would not propose another conference.

It seems certain to night that the Committee on Finance has passed on the lead schedule, and that three quarters of a cent on lead contained in silver lead ores has been written in the bill. A member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House states that the bill has been printed, and that in the draft before the committee this morning silver lead ores received the above consideration.

BROOKLYN, March 2.-The "Kearsarge" court of inquiry was dull to-day. Surgeon Craig stated that he examined the eyesight of the lookouts on duty on the "Kearsarge" when she struck. He found their eyesights perfect and their hearing normal. ROME, March 2. - The Pope celebrated his 84th birthday to-day. In reply to congatulations he said he would continue to the end of his life to carry on the beneficient action of the church, adding. The need of this is great, for all our own conceptions of houesty, justice, authority, liberty, social rights and social duties have been overthrown. The church must seek to recall the nations to the principles of moral faith, point out the true causes of existing evils and inspire the rulers with rectitude and the governed with submission and install in all an ardor for

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Correspondence of THE RECORD

Washington, February 28, 1894. Democratic cuckoo and anti-cockoo Senators have temporarily buried the hatchet and are now engaged to a far more important fight, the tariff being the battle ground. There are ten Democratic Senators who demand more home protection than the subcommittee is willing to give them. A caucus of Democratic Senators was held but was to be taken, it has resulted in accomplishing nothing and the fight is still on, The sub-committee tried to reach a compromise by taking coal, iron ore and sugar from the free list and putting a small duty upon each of them, but that appears not to have cause these articles were taken from the free list and the latter because the duty to say what effect this fight will have upon the fate of the bill. It may be that the home protectionists are, as the free-traders say they are, making a grand bluff in order to secure the highest possible duties for the articles they favor, and that they will in the end fall into line and support the bill. The retention of the income tax has made it certain that the three populists will support the bill and Senator Stewart of Nevada, may go with them. In that case the Republicans will only have thirty seven sure votes against the bill, making it necessary for six Democrats to vote with them to defeat it. If reports are true concerning the condition of Senator Vance's health he will not be able to return to Washington to vote for the bill, and, as there is little probability of any Republican pairing with him, that will mean one vote less for the Democrats. There is still a possibility, however, that enough Democrats may vote with the Republicans to carry a motion to postpone consideration of the bill until next December.

Mr. Jusiah Quincy, of Mass., ex-headsman of the Department of State, will hardly go down to history either as a great statesman or as a shrewd political manager, but it cannot be denied that Josiah is well up in the art of self preservation. He has asked and has been granted permission by the Senate committee on printing, which is investigating charges which allege that Quincy was guilty of crookedness in getting the contract for printing the Patent Office Gazette, awarded to parties with whom he holds peculiar business relations, to withhold his testimony until all the evidence against him has been presented. Mr. Quincy frankly stated that his reasons for asking this favor was that he stid not wish to give the other fellows any pointers. The committee will push the investigation as rapidly as possible. ment are poorer and shabbier under the Democratic than they were under the Republican administration. For proof of this assertion you have only to compare one of the Democratic cards with one of those sold under the last administration. You will ing type of feminine humanity it will be find the Democratic card much thusier in found that the girls of Kentucky, those quality and the printing vastly interior in of the Carolinas and the belles of Louisievery respect. Verily, the country is going ana, Alabama and Georgia differ among through a period of crawfish reform. But themselves quite as widely as does a Pathere is a day of reckoning ahead, and the verdict will be another period of obscurity petency known as the Democratic party.

It will be a long time before anyone who heard Mr. Bland make that bitter speech, accusing those members of the House who had declined to vote to make a quorum so that his bill for the coinage of the seignorage which still has the House tied up, could be passed of teaching anarchy and with being no better than men who would throw dynamite bembs on the floor and endanger the lives of those present, will forget it, if ever they do. Without entering into the question of whether those who declined to vote were justified in so doing-ex-Speaker Reed insists that it is a question which concerns only the members and the constituents whom he represents it can be truthfully said that a man who could make such a speech as Mr. Bland made is utterly unfit to be entrusted with the management of any bill on the floor of the House. He lost his head, and no man who looses his head is fitted to be a leader of other men. By none were his intemporate words more severely condemned than by some of the silver men whose leader circumstances had made him. His standing as a man of judgment has never been as high in the House, but he will in the future have no standing at all. Mr. Bland insists that his bill will be kept it will surprise no one to see it side tracked Tiger Skins. The length of the longest tiger skin after drying is said to be 18 feet 6 inches; but it must be noted that skins expand considerably in the curing. The greatest length of a skin undressed is given as 10 feet 21 inches. That goes far toward confirming what we have said as to the finest of these latter day tigers falling far short of their predecessors. Mr. Inglis ("Maori"), whom we consider a most trustworthy authority, discusses the matter at length in his books on Indian wild sports. And he quotes examples, within the experiences of a hunting companion of his own, of various animals killed in upper Bengal which measured from 12 feet to 12 feet 7 inches.-London Saturday Review.

ENGLISH JUS. CE TO OUR GIRLS.

Sir Edwin Arnold Tells Englishmen Their Ideas of American Women Are Absurd.

In England men of letters and humorous artists are accustomed to treat the American girl from two widely differing, but in either case unjust, points of view, "Mr. Punch's" artists confess graphically that the American girl is often sumptuously beautiful, but they rarely presen her to public admiration without putting in her mouth utterances which are either grotesquely "outre" or downright vulgar. If she is asked to partake of refreshments, she declines on the score that she is "pretty well crowded already," and if the Chicago exhibition is alluded to in her presence she incidentally remarks that the World's fair is "too big a chunk to be chewed" without difficulty. As for the English novelists, the American girls they depict are in most instances handsome and more or less unscrupulous young persons, who complete their education by the intense study of Burke and Debrett, and who embark on board the ocean steamship which is to bring them to Europe with a firm resolution to marry very high up indeed in the English peer-

We shall never have a thoroughly artistic series of studies of the American Notions and Fancy Articles. girl from English pens and pencils until our countrymen recognize the fact that American girls differ physically and characteristically among themselves quite as widely, if not even more widely, than English girls do. In the Union multitudes of girls may be met with who are almost Germans or almost Irish in blood. Half Swedish, half Spanish South Americans, half Italian types of femininity are also continually met with, and indeed there are skillful students of American character who declare that the genuine American girl is only to be met with in New England-that is to say, in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. In those states the original English blood has, with scarcely any foreign strain in it, descended from the time of the immigration of the Pilgrim Fathers to our own days. They are the true Yankees, and yet unobservant writers are ready to typify the New York, or the Philadelphian, or the Baltimore, or the Virginian young lady as a Yankee

New York city is perhaps one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world, and the French, the German and the Irish types have been freely mingled with the Angle-Saxon ones, while some account must be taken of the Knickerbocker aristocracy-that is to say, of the descendants of the old Dutch settlers. The expert in character will at once be able to distinguish between a young lady from Manhattan and one who hails from Pennsylvania or Maryland, while journeying farther west another type of American girlhood makes herself manifest in Ohio and Michigan, and so soon as the Rocky mountains are crossed and the descent of the Pacific slope is begun yet another wholly independent type of the feminine Even the postal cards sold by the Government are poorer and shabbler under the would the study of the American daughter of Eve be complete by even the minutest observation of the girls of the eastern, the middle and the western sates. Professor Moore's Steam Man.

A steam "man" is the latest American novelty. The inventor, Professor George Moore, made a similar apparatus with partial success a number of years ago. but his present venture is larger and in tended to draw a wagon. The figure, 6 feet high, is incased in metal and looks like a knight in mediaval armor, with helmet and visor, smoking a cigar. The cigar, however, is an escape pipe, and the plumes of the helmet veil the top of the chimney. The furnace and boiler are contained inside the trunk and the moving mechanism in the rest of the body. The man walks briskly at a pace of four or five miles an hour.

Decorations at Dioners.

Such strides have been made in confectionery of late that at any special dinner the cakes and bonbons, which help to garnish the table in their little silver dishes, are made of any tint desired and generally either match or are in accord with the floral decorations. The arrangement of the latter is still kept low, and the flowers should not be overcrowded in their silver receptacles. Except in the centerpiece, all flowers look better in groups or twos and threes, and quality rather than quantity is a rule particularly applicable to the floral decorations of a table. -Exchange.
